

About
CareSource Mission

CareSource Mission is a social welfare member organization established in 2023 that operates exclusively to support managed care organizations, like CareSource, that ensure accessible and high quality health care services with a focus on social determinants of health for individuals eligible to participate in government health care programs, like Medicaid.

CareSource Mission has two objectives:

educate the public and federal, state and local government policy makers about the benefits of managed care; and advocate for policies, legislation, regulations and government programs that promote health and improvements through managed care.

The education and advocacy efforts of CareSource Mission are vital tools to ensure that the public and elected officials support legislation and regulations that align with CareSource’s mission to make a lasting difference in its members’ live by improving their health and well-being.

CareSource Mission
Vital Importance

- CareSource Mission helps defend the industry from aggressive organizations and special interest groups that actively try to undermine managed care’s goals, operations, financial stability and programs. These organizations and special interest groups often do not the follow the same standards to ensure high quality health outcomes through managed care and are unfortunately very well-funded.
- Outcomes matter! Every day, people who work for companies like CareSource improve their members’ overall well-being. We know this because we hear the member stories and celebrate their successes.
- CareSource Mission tells these member success stories and supports the champions that worked hard to achieve these amazing outcomes, while other special interests attempt to knock down these efforts and perpetuate the narrative of the greedy and uncaring insurance company motivated only by profits.
- It important to tell the truth about the impact of bad policies that are built on bad information. CareSource Mission asks questions and seeks the truth, even when it is unpopular, and helps combat the misinformation campaign. “It is easier for the world to accept a simple lie than a complex truth.” – Alexis de Tocqueville
